

Handout 4b: Worksheet

Each student should complete this worksheet as the group discusses and strategizes about its position. These questions will frame the discussion that will take place in class.

Are you representing the Israeli government or Anat Kamm? (circle one)

List at least three key points that will help you make your case. Cite, whenever possible, the documents you have at your disposal.

List at least three key points that you can cite to discredit the other side's case. Cite, whenever possible, the documents you have at your disposal.

Prepare a two minute introduction that delineates your goal in this proceeding and makes your best case. (List bullet points or write full sentences. Use additional paper if needed.)

Why does this case matter for Israel?

Why does this case matter for us?

List key points to raise in your closing argument. These points may reiterate ones you made earlier, or they may draw on additional ways to prove your case.